Supporting Education brings together services that support every aspect of a child's journey through school and beyond. We build bright futures through expert support, inspiring staff and cutting-edge technology. Three of our brands: Teaching Personnel, Protocol Education and Fleet Education Services have over 25 years of experience in education and recruitment.

In tackling the complexities of managing recruitment across three major education brands, our team needed an Applicant Tracking System (ATS) that could flexibly integrate with our unique branch structures. Before Logic Melon, we juggled three different ATS accounts, creating a bit of a logistical headache.

PROBLEM:

The challenge was clear - our recruitment process needed a shake-up. Using three separate ATS platforms for our education brands was causing more hassle than efficiency. We needed a one-stop solution that could adapt to the individual needs of each brand.

SOLUTION:

Enter Logic Melon, our hero in this tale. Integrating it into our system was surprisingly simple. It gave us the power to set up and tweak branch structures as we pleased. Plus, we could now allocate job ad credits and slots on platforms like Indeed for each branch separately. The flexibility even extended to deciding who gets access to CV searches on external job boards, aligning perfectly with our external contracts.

One standout feature we love is the Talent Pool. It lets our consultants dive into our own applicant database, making matching candidates to vacancies a breeze.

RESULTS:

Logic Melon has been a game-changer. The introduction of AI job writing features has been a hit, and the ongoing support from their knowledgeable and patient staff has kept everything running smoothly.

CONCLUSION:

Logic Melon not only untangled our recruitment process but set us up for ongoing success in the ever-changing world of education recruitment. This case study is our way of thanking Logic Melon for being a big part in our recruitment process needed.
